OUR BIG TRADE IN MOTOR CARS.

The Country's Trade for the Year Approximated $30,000,000.

More than $1,000,000 worth of automobiles were brought into the United States during the fiscal year ending with the last week of June, and more than $3,000,000 worth were exported during the same time. Figures of our foreign commerce in automobiles show the value of automobiles imported in the eleven months ending with May to have been $3,502,244, and of parts thereof, $378,380, while exports thereof during the same months amounted to $2,057,748. It is apparent, therefore, that the figures for the full fiscal year which ended with June will show more than $4,000,000 worth of automobiles and parts thereof imported, and more than $3,000,000 worth exported.

Meanwhile the manufacture of automobiles in the United States has amounted to presumably more than $20,000,000, since the bureau of the census has recently issued a preliminary statement which shows the value of automobiles manufactured in the United States in 1905 at $20,054,004. This figure includes amounts received from custom work and repairing and value of products other than automobiles; but as it does not include automobiles, valued at $879,205, manufactured in establishments engaged primarily in the manufacture of other products, it may probably be safely set down that the value of automobiles produced in the United States approximates $20,000,000 and the imports $4,000,000, and that out of this total of $24,000,000 there was exported about $3,000,000 worth.—Harper's Weekly.

Sucking the Thumb.—As a preventive put a piece of adhesive plaster, such as surgeons use, a little less than one-half inch wide, above the first joint, or between the two joints of the child's thumb. Paste the end securely, but be careful not to interfere with circulation.

Origin of Spotted Fever.—Recent experiments prove that the deadly spotted fever of the Rocky mountains is caused by the infection of ticks acting much like that which sets up splenic fever in the bovine race. This confirms a widespread belief which has hitherto been controverted by physicians.

The Danger in Headache Powders.—Acetanilid poison is found in practically all of the patent headache powders and they should either be avoided or taken with great caution. This poison is a dangerous drug, and if the stomach is weakened to a certain extent the quantity in a headache powder may be sufficient to kill. In fact a boy died recently in Mesa County from this poison.

Rheumatism.—One of the latest remedies is that of a gardener who recommends the familiar plant so well known as chickweed. The method of using it consists of filling a wide-mouthed bottle three-fourths full with a plant and then pouring in spirits of wine sufficient to cover the whole. The preparation is then allowed to stand for from four days to a week, at the end of which time the tincture is to be rubbed into the affected parts in the usual way.

Whooping Cough.—Procure a mixture of peroxide of hydrogen two drams, sirup of tolu 1½ ounces and water one-half ounce. Give from ten drops to one teaspoonful according to age every hour for two or three doses, then every two hours for six or eight, getting farther between doses as the patient improves. This is a newer and better formula than that of any of the old-fashioned cough sirups, the most of which depend upon morphine or opium as a palliative.

The Proof of It.

"This milk isn't fit to drink. It's sour."
"Yes, sir. I knew it."
"You knew it, and gave it to me just the same?"
"Yes, sir; in these days of pure-food agitation we serve it sour to prove there's no formaldehyde in it."

Southern Farm Values.

It is computed that farm properties in the eleven states that once seceded from the Union have risen in value more than $1,000,000,000 in two years. The average yield of these lands since this century began is $200,000,000 a year greater than it was in the preceding six years.

The Notoriety Bitter.

"Why, how d'ye do?" said the barber to his one-time customer.
"How'd'y," snapped the latter.
"You're a stranger. I haven't seen your face for a long time."
"That's odd. I left most of it on your razor the last time I was in your shop."—Catholic Standard and Times.

This is what father gets in the way of recreation: When the rest of the family go to a picnic or a parade, he is left at home to "watch the house."
